Dear Mayor Massey,

It is my pleasure to write in strong support of your re-election campaign for Madison County. As President of 6K Energy, I have had the honor of working closely with you and your team since our initial site-selection process in 2023, and I am confident that your leadership continues to benefit the entire community.

From the very beginning of our search for a suitable location for our first full-scale PlusCAM™ facility, Madison County was among many options under consideration. We evaluated a number of competitive jurisdictions on cost, infrastructure readiness, workforce, and future growth potential. What set Madison County, and particularly your leadership apart, was the level of trust we felt in the relationship we were building, and the tangible support we received from your office. As I noted when announcing our decision through press releases and media interviews, choosing the location that met our operational requirements followed closely by the relationship and trust our organization needs at the local level where the two leading criteria we focused on. In short, the right fit is mission critical to be the leading domestic supplier of cathode material in the U.S. Jackson not only met our requirements but exceeded. Add to it the teams at the state, county and town levels went above and beyond.”

You personally were instrumental in making that comfort level real. Your willingness to engage in detailed discussions, to listen, to advocate, and to coordinate among the state, local, and community stakeholders gave us the confidence that our factory would not simply establish roots here—but would thrive! Because of your actions, we committed a project exceeding $200 million in capital investment in Madison County and projected more than 230 new high-paying jobs for your citizens.

In the months since the announcement and groundbreaking—which we held together with the Governor and other leaders—my team and I have continued to observe the positive ripple effects of that decision. The facility, leveraging our UniMelt® microwave-plasma process, represents not only the largest single industrial investment in the history of Madison County, but also a tangible vote of confidence in your leadership and the region’s future.

Your stewardship of Madison County has been a key element in creating the conditions for success: stable governance, collaborative spirit, workforce readiness, and a forward-looking vision. And while the project certainly reflects our company’s strategy and technology, it also reflects the kind of community and partner we were seeking—and you helped make Madison County that partner.

As you seek re-election, I confidently pledge my continued support and endorsement of your candidacy. I am convinced that under your leadership, Madison County will continue to attract high-quality investment, create good jobs for our citizens, and strengthen its position in regional and national manufacturing competition.

Please let me know how 6K Energy may further support your campaign efforts in the days ahead. Thank you, Mayor Massey, for your partnership—past, present, and I am hopeful, future.

Sincerely,
